In recognition of National Recovery Month in September, and to promote community-wide involvement in prevention and education efforts, Bridging Access to Care will host a live Youth Town Hall on Friday, Sept. 23rd, 2016 at 10am. Sponsored by Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), the event will address the significant impact of drugs and alcohol on youth and young adults in Brooklyn. The Town Hall will bring together teens, young adults, parents, teachers, community leaders, treatment providers and community organizations who are concerned about the frequency and associated risks related to substance use among youth.

The lively Town Hall forum, held at the historic Brooklyn Borough Hall, will give community members the opportunity to exchange ideas and explore new approaches to reduce substance and alcohol use and misuse within the youth population.

Place: Brooklyn Borough Hall, 29 Joralemon St., Brooklyn, NY 11201
